7- Statistics in other Sciences:

Statistics in Economics and Management (701); Agricultural Statistics (702); Statistics in Industry and Engineering (703); Statistics in Social Sciences (704); Behavioral Statistics (705); Statistics in Basic Sciences (706); Statistics in Meteorology (707); Other related topics (708).

8- Other fields.

Scientific Program

1. Invited Papers: 50 minutes general talks delivered by invited speakers.
2. Contributed Papers: 20 minutes sessions for presentation of contributed papers.
3. Poster Sessions: for contributed papers accepted for this mode of presentation.
4. Workshops: on a variety of statistical topics.
5. Round-table Discussions: on statistics and related topics.
6. Exhibitions: Software, books and data dissemination systems.

Important: Authors are requested to prepare their full papers in LaTeX format only and according to the style-file provided in the conference website. Please, note that papers should be sent through the Conference website no later than Dec. 21, 2010.

Instructions for authors

1. Papers should be in English and discuss new findings in areas mentioned above and have not been published before.
2. Papers should contain title, author's name(s), institutional affiliation, abstract, keywords, introduction, body text divided by related sections and references, prepared according to the style file available from the Conference website.

Notes:

- a) All invited and selected contributed papers will be published in the Conference proceedings.
- b) Papers submitted elsewhere or published within 2009-10 can be accepted for presentation (only) in the Conference.
